Web enabled, integrated solution for Recruitment

Think Different

We believe in Partnership, it's very important to us. We like to sit round the table with our customers and understand what they need to compete more effectively in a challenging market. That's how Talisman has evolved.

So Talisman was designed by recruitment companies, not by us. That's because we don't do the job, you do. Only recruiters can know what they need to do their job effectively. As it's been around since the mid-1980's it has lots of features, all of which were added by working with our users.

Nor have we forgotten our original users. When Talisman became a web enabled product, we made sure there was a migration route from the old to the new. No big upheaval, no re-entry of data, just a seamless transition.

One size fits all

Talisman is a fully integrated solution for any organisation involved in the recruitment process. So whether your company is a recruitment agency or a corporate who hires contract or temporary staff, single or multi-site, it offers the solution for you.

Modular

Talisman is modular, all of which are perfectly designed to work together. You can start with the Front or Back Office, add Payroll and Timesheet Processing, Client or Candidate access, or CV parsing, when the time is right.

Platform

You can choose to have your own server, or run on a hosted machine, either in our premises or a third-party hosting company. You can purchase software licenses, or chooses rental, whatever is best for you.

Services

We offer consultancy, training, implementation and support services, you control them every step of the way.

Pricing

We price transparently, that is we show all costs up-front. That means it can look a bit complicated, but there are no hidden costs to find out about later. All our software is priced by the number of users/modules. Services are priced by the day.
